

Clikia Corp. Suspends Operations of Its Clikia Streaming Cable Television Subscription Service

BATON ROUGE, LA, April 12, 2019 - Clikia Corp. (OTC PINK: CLKA) today announced the immediate suspension of its Clikia Streaming Cable Television Subscription Service. This action has been taken in response to a recent lawsuit filed against Omniverse One World Television, Inc. (OOWT), which is discussed below.

In mid-February 2019, a legal consortium consisting of several programmers, studios and over-the-top, or OTT, industry participants, filed a lawsuit (the "Lawsuit") (Paramount Pictures Corporation, Columbia Pictures Industries, Inc., Disney Enterprises, Inc., Twentieth Century Fox Film Corporation, Warner Bros. Entertainment Inc., Universal City Studios Productions LLLP, Universal Television, LLC and Universal Content Productions, LLC v. Omniverse One World Television, Inc.; Jason M. DeMeo, United States District Court, Central District of California, Western Division, Case No. 2:19-cv-01156), alleging, among other things, that OOWT does not have the right to license certain OTT, programming to third parties.

OOWT recently filed an answer in this Lawsuit denying the plaintiffs' claims.

Clikia obtains the vast majority of its OTT programming, that is, its streaming cable television content, the same content that forms the foundation of the Lawsuit, pursuant to an agreement with a third party, a company that obtains its OTT programming from OOWT and the putative right to grant sublicenses to third parties, including Clikia.

In the weeks since Clikia became aware of the Lawsuit, Clikia's management has made a thorough analysis of the Lawsuit, its allegations and how such allegations, if proven true, would affect the continued viability of its Clikia streaming subscription cable television service, and engaged in discussions with numerous participants in the OTT industry.

Clikia has concluded its analysis of the Lawsuit and has determined it to be likely that the plaintiffs in the Lawsuit, as presented, will prevail against OOWT. Clikia has further determined that the plaintiffs in the Lawsuit will likely be successful in causing the cessation of OOWT's delivery of OTT programming to third parties, including, through Clikia's third-party provider, to Clikia. In this circumstance, Clikia would no longer be able to derive any material revenues from its Clikia streaming subscription cable television service.

In light of the foregoing, Clikia's management has determined to suspend, effective immediately, all operations relating to its Clikia streaming subscription cable television service.

With this determination made, Clikia's management is investigating potential business opportunities that would be beneficial to the long-term prospects of Clikia Corp. and its shareholders.

This Press Release contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These forward-looking statements are based on the current plans and expectations of management and are subject to a number of uncertainties and risks that could significantly affect the company's current plans and expectations, as well as future results of operations and financial condition. A more extensive listing of risks and factors that may affect the company's business prospects and cause actual results to differ materially from those described in the forward-looking statements can be found in the reports and other documents filed by the company with the OTC Markets, Inc. and OTC Markets, Inc. OTC Disclosure and News Service. The company undertakes no obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.

Contact: Clikia Corp., Investor Relations, investor@clikiacorp.com