CompuMed Continuity of Telemedicine Diagnostic Services

LOS ANGELES, CA (March 23, 2020) - CompuMed, Inc. (OTCPink: CMPD), a leader in providing diagnostic telemedicine services, remains open to provide services to customers 24/7/365.

In response to the current global situation with COVID-19, we want to assure our customers that you will continue to have uninterrupted access to the CompuMed systems and diagnostic services. We understand that your ability to access ECG devices, medical images, and timely diagnostics interpretations could be even more important to you in the coming days and beyond.

With that in mind, it is important that you know our systems were designed for optimal access and security with safeguards to ensure its continued availability in the case of a natural disaster or other high-impact event. All of our systems are located on redundant servers either in the cloud or in highly reliable remote locations. Our highly skilled specialists (Cardiologists-including Pediatric, Radiologists, Pathologists) work remotely and are distributed across the United States. This includes our support staff who have the capacity to support you remotely utilizing tools built for that purpose 24/7/365. In addition, our systems and workflow are extremely scalable, allowing us to easily remove and add capacity as needed depending on the business needs.

Lee Keddie, CompuMed's CEO, stated "We recognize that you have put your trust in CompuMed and we take that trust seriously. We are well prepared to continue providing access, support, and service during this difficult time. If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to us."
