Managements' Second Quarter Discussion

During the second quarter of 2013, the Company continued to work on expanding its enterprise and market share within the women's fashion industry with the launch of its new website, VivaVuva.com. To date, VivaVuva.com is by far its largest ecommerce undertaking and has laid out a two stage plan of its initial roll out. The timeline of VivaVuva.com's launch is predicated on two specific phases. The first 2-3 month phase is designed to maximize VivaVuva's exposure to search engines with a complete focus on SEO (search engine optimization) so as to begin the process of attaining first page rankings on Google, Yahoo and Bing in various keywords and with it, critical organic traffic. The second phase is the consumer acquisition phase which is expected to go in high gear by mid-September in time for the fourth quarter holiday shopping season as products continue to be populated on the site. VivaVuva.com already enjoys a front page ranking on many keywords such as "Sexy Women's Fashion" and a 5th page rank on the very prestigious "Women's Fashion" keyword. The Company expects to make significant strides in continuing to develop increased exposure on first page rankings on Google.

On May 31, 2013, the Company closed its Robertson World of Leggings location as the lease had expired and an amicable agreement on signing a new lease could not be reached. Since the landlord was requesting $9,500.00 monthly rent, the Company did not renew as the jeopardy associated with a high fixed cost for this location did not warrant continuing operations given the sales per square foot. The Company expects that the closing of the Robertson store will have a positive effect on the Company's performance as "sales per square foot" is the main metric utilized by the Company for developing continued shareholder value. The Company is looking to relocate that store and is currently considering Venice and / or Culver City.

The Company also migrated its main website, OnlyLeggings.com, to a new ecommerce platform which was 95% completed on August 1, 2013. The process of migration was a significant task and did result in a higher than usual payroll cost for the quarter. However, in mid June 2013, CEO Danny Alex resumed all duties associated with CSS, HTML and coding duties for all of the Company's websites. This resulted in an accelerated launch of VivaVuva.com and a quarterly savings of almost $30,000.00 in payroll costs. The increased employee costs for the second quarter are expected to be one time charges for that quarter. Mr. Alex continues to and shall continue to do all of the coding and SEO for the Company's websites as it has been determined that the Company is able to develop its websites much faster without having to incur the high costs of additional employees.

Management believes that the migration of OnlyLeggings.com resulted in reduction of its revenues of between $50,000 - $75,000 in the quarter due to Google, Bing and Yahoo re-orientating their crawls and keywords with the new OnlyLeggings.com web page structure and content. Because of this, the Company will not affect any change to WorldofLeggings.com until OnlyLeggings.com is 100% complete and not before the Q4 Holiday shopping season.

Management believes that the higher than normal loss for its second quarter was the result of one-time payroll events associated with the development of VivaVuva.com and the re-launch of OnlyLeggings.com onto a new platform in addition to the lower revenues associated with the OnlyLeggings.com change-over. The Company is currently preparing the business for a robust Q4 shopping season which it expects to produce another record quarter of sales and revenue.

The Company has also cleaned up the majority of its liabilities with only $135,037.01 remaining on its balance sheet. The Company believes that it can continue to reduce that amount so as to show a minimal amount of debt and liabilities on its balance sheet by this same time next year.

The Company believes that with the filing of its Q2 quarterly disclosure statement that it can return to the Current Tier. If any deficiencies exist in this filing, the Company shall make prompt changes and/or additions as required and specified.
